RESULT

Refugee's burden on government will be relieved, PATH takes the works from the government directly to the non-profit volunteer helpers, which is less time-consuming and it saves budget for hiring people to do the same job, in order to make things easier, the app lets refugees and asylum seekers locate and contact carious non-governmental organisations in Australia that provide multilingual supports, besides, comment sections are also one of the features of the app, people who have been in Australia long enough or experienced similar encounters could give advice to the needed ones as well.
